- Why buy used equipment from China? Why is so much quality equipment available?

Bowling boomed in China in the 1990s. Tens of thousands of lanes were built in a very few years throughout the country. One year, bowling equipment was ranked second in value on the list of goods imported from the USA, exceeded only by commercial aircraft.

But unfortunately, bowling declined just as quickly as it arose. Many bowling centers have closed in the last few years, making used bowling equipment readily available in China. Most of it is not more than five years old._

- Everybody is going to China to buy cheap!

The unusual up-and-down of the Chinese bowling market has made available very good quality used equipment at bargain prices. Bowling experts familiar with world bowling markets know what opportunities await in China. That is why many worldwide distributors are coming to China to buy high-quality used equipment.

- China, soon to be the world's biggest bowling manufacturing base

China is the world's major source for new bowling products. Many of the major brands you know have been sourcing their products from China for many years. A very large percentage of house balls and rental shoes for the world are being made here. So are pinsetter parts, synthetic lanes, and other bowling-related products. Many of the same bowling products in addition to used capital equipment are not only available in China, but at prices usually lower than anywhere else in the world.

China is not an industry secret anymore.

As for quality, some products have met industry standards, but some have not. So you need a reliable partner in China.
